

Yorkshire & Humberside

NORTH EAST LINCOLNSHIRENorth East Lincolnshire

1/657 (B.67.M001)

TA 23350987

DN41 7QS

CHURCH FARM, GREAT COATESEarthwork Survey and Desk-Based Assessment of the Archaeological Implications of Proposed Development at Church Farm, Great Coates, North East Lincolnshire

Taylor, G Sleaford : Archaeological Project Services, 2003, 29pp, colour pls, figs, tabs, refs

Work undertaken by: Archaeological Project Services

Evidence suggested that the land within the assessment area remained relatively unaltered over the last two centuries. Maps record the farm buildings in the north-eastern part of the site from as early as 1819. However, brief examination of the buildings suggested that they were not significantly earlier than this date. The appearance and style of the other farm buildings, together with cartographic evidence, indicated that the separate structures comprising the site were built at various dates in the 19th and 20th centuries. [Au(abr)]