BUCKLEBURY

Buckleberry, West Berkshire. Report on Archaeological Surveys 2003

Bartlett, A D H North Leigh : Bartlett-Clark Consultancy, 2003, 12pp, figs

Work undertaken by: Bartlett-Clark Consultancy

A magnetometer and resistivity survey were carried out at the site, strongly suspected to be a Roman building. Resistivity indicated disturbance in the area of the building as previously indicated by surface finds, however magnetic response was lower than expected from a building of this kind. It was thought that more than one building was present at the site, but plough erosion or insubstantial remains were responsible for the ambiguous results. [Au(abr)]
