59 LOCKFIELD AVENUE, BRIMSDOWN

Report on an Archaeological Watching Brief at 59 Lockfield Avenue, Brimsdown, in the London Borough of Enfield

Single, A London : Compass Archaeology, 2002, 24pp, colour pls, figs, tabs, refs

Work undertaken by: Compass Archaeology

A number of drainage trenches inside and outside the footprint of the building were archaeologically examined. The stratigraphy of the site had been truncated. Modern structures were observed in one of the trenches to the west of the building. No other archaeological finds or features were found during the watching brief apart from a sherd of post-medieval pottery and a fragment of modern glass. [Au(abr)]

AMBERLEY HALL, PALMERS GREEN

Amberley Hall, Amberley Road, Palmers Green, London Borough of Enfield. Report on an Archaeological Watching Brief

Capon, L Twickenham : AOC Archaeology Group, 2002, 13pp, figs, tabs, refs

Work undertaken by: AOC Archaeology Group

This document is a report on a Watching Brief conducted at a new development at the former site of Amberly Hall, Amberley Road, in the London borough of Enfield. Only one feature was identified on the site, a pond dating to the 19th century. As no significant archaeological remains were identified, the English Heritage monitor lifted the requirement for a watching brief. [Au]
