Webb, A Morley : Archaeological Services WYAS, 2002, 23pp, figs, tabs

Work undertaken by: Archaeological Services WYAS

A fluxgate gradiometer survey was carried out on the site. Air photographs of the site showed extensive enclosures and linear features. Only part of one of the enclosures was identified and a few discreet linear and curvilinear features. The lack of results may have been due to truncation or features having similar matrices to the natural. [Au(abr)]
