Following publication of the original article [1], an error was identified in the “Conclusion” section of the abstract.

The sentence “RESPOND was person-centred and reduced falls and fractures at a substantially lower dose, using fewer resources, than anticipated.” should be replaced with “RESPOND, which was previously shown to reduce falls and fractures in the main trial analysis, was found to be delivered in a timely and person-centred manner, at a substantially lower dose, using fewer resources than anticipated.”

The original article [1] has been corrected.
