About

In the UK, liver disease is a growing health concern. Liver disease causes challenging symptoms, emotional and social issues for people affected by it. Increasingly it is understood that people with liver disease, and their carers, should be offered early support to manage these. Our research project aims to explore the experiences of people receiving care for advanced liver disease. We are in the planning stages of the research and are keen for VOICE members to be involved in the study design to ensure that it is meaningful to people with liver disease.
